SCORES INJURED WHEN THEY LEAP FROM WINDOWS

Every Ambulance in New York City Rushed to the Scene of Tragedy

NEW YORK, March 25.—At least one hundred lives are believed to have been lost in the fire which swept through a factory building in the wholesale district late today.

Fifteen hundred persons, mostly girls, were employed in the structure which was an eight-story loft building, and shortly after the firemen and police arrived the bodies of thirty-five victims had been removed to the sidewalks.

The fire is in an eight-story factory used for the manufacture of celluloid at Nos. 28 and 30 Washington place.

All the available ambulances in the city have been rushed to the scene, for in addition to those who perished in the flames, scores were injured by jumping from windows as high as the eighth floor.

His home was at Thomaston, Me., and he joined the ship at San Francisco.

ATTEMPT TO INJURE DR. F. F. JACKSON IN THE CAMPAIGN

THE TRIBUNE was innocently victimized by a foolish and contemptible worker against Dr. F. F. Jackson, candidate for Mayor.

An unauthorized want advertisement was published last night in THE TRIBUNE purporting to come from Jackson's drug store, calling for a Japanese boy to work in a doctor's office.

The advertisement in question was telephoned into THE TRIBUNE office and published last evening. The identity of the person who telephoned the bogus advertisement is not known, but it is apparent that the perpetrator of the cheap trick thought he would injure Dr. Jackson by trying to make it appear, for a few hours at least, that the candidate for Mayor was discriminating against white labor, when it is a positive fact that Dr. Jackson does not, and will not, employ any Asiatic help.

Rebel Leader Thinks Cabinet
Resignation May Be Merely

With the Whole Ministry Out
Reforms and Peace May Follow

MEXICO CITY, March 25.—The resignation of President Diaz's cabinet last night continues to be the absorbing topic in official and public quarters. Who will be designated for the more important positions in the cabinet is the chief question of interest.

The announcement of the resignation, while vaguely foreseen for some time, came with suddenness. The completeness of the change also was noted, as the resignations comprised the entire ministry, namely:

Minister of Foreign Affairs Enrique C. Cordero.

Minister of Finance and Public Credit Jose Limantour.

Minister of Justice Justino Fernandez.

Minister of Public Instruction Justo Sierra.

Minister of Government Olegario Molina.

Minister of Communication and Public Works Leopoldo Fernandez.

Minister of War and Marine General Manuel G. Cossio.

The resignations also embrace that of Ramon Corral as a member of the cabinet, but not as vice-president. The official reason given for the resignations was the belief that it would assist in re-establishing peace and facilitating contemplated reforms.

No Halt to Be Called in War,
Declare Rebels

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist, was sentenced today by Acting Police Judge Treadwell to serve 25 days in the county jail on a charge of exceeding the automobile speed limit. Johnson pleaded guilty to the charge on Thursday.

When sentence was pronounced,

Johnson, who has been acting as his own attorney at his numerous appearances before the local police courts on charges of violating the speed ordinances, asked that some one be appointed to represent him.

Attorney Greeley, acting for Johnson, then asked for a stay of execution and an appeal bond. Judge Treadwell declined to entertain either motion, declaring that such an order could not be made in the case of a defendant who had pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge. Johnson's attorney announced that he would apply to the superior court for a writ of habeas corpus.

Shortly after his arrival here several weeks ago Johnson was convicted by a jury on a charge of exceeding the speed limit and a fine of $100 was imposed. He appealed against the fine and was again arrested on the original charge. While the appeal was pending, the service of the warrant was suspended. Chief of Police Seymour on Johnson's promise to refrain from again violating the ordinance. Caught racing through the park on Wednesday he pleaded guilty on Thursday with today's sentence as the result.

The suspended warrant also was served on him and in Police Judge Waller's court today this charge was continued.

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—Assemblyman Coglian announced today that he would offer in the assembly a resolution calling the alien land bill out of the assembly judiciary committee. The bill was reported out by the committee and then recalled at a meeting held yesterday.

Governor Johnson, when asked today if he had received a telegram from President Taft and had requested the action taken, said:

"I cannot discuss that subject."

Assemblyman Kehoe, chairman of the judiciary committee, was definite only on the point that he had not told any one that such a telegram was received.

W. H. Wallard, a clerk in the employ of the Southern Pacific company, well known Elie and member of the Knights of Columbus, was run over by an automobile said to have been driven by W. M. Greener, at Fourteenth and Broadway this morning at 10:30 and suffered numerous injuries which were dressed at the Receiving Hospital, where he was taken in the machine. At the time of the accident it is said that Wallard was passing the runabout, riding a bicycle. The driver of the machine started to back away from the curb where he had been standing, with the result of a collision. Wallard sustained a sprained ankle and other minor bruises about the body.

THOMAS RICKARD, EX-MAYOR OF BERKELEY MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

THOMAS RICKARD, who was killed when he fell from a window.

Body Is Discovered

Rupture of the Aorta
Is Direct Cause of Tragedy

BERKELEY, March 25.—Having fallen from a second story window of his home at 2720 Bancroft way during the night, the body of Thomas Rickard, clubman, former mayor of Berkeley, member of the engineering and supply firm of Harron, Rickard and McCone, was found by a milkman shortly after daybreak this morning. An autopsy held by Dr. Frank Simpson at the Berkeley morgue early this afternoon revealed the fact that Rickard died as the result of a rupture of the descending aorta, the large heart blood vessel.

It is Dr. Simpson's belief that death would have resulted from this rupture, which took place before Rickard's fall, and which doubtless caused him to go to the window for fresh air.

The fall increased the rupture. Rickard also suffered a fracture of the left wrist. He had been a sufferer from heart weakness, but had never had any serious attacks before last night.

RETURNS FROM CLUB

Rickard returned home about 10 o'clock last evening from the Claremont Country club where he had spent the evening with his wife, engaging in bowling for an hour or more.

After conversing with his wife for a short time Rickard kissed her good night and said:

"Be sure to call me early in the morning, dear, for I shall have a busy day."

He then retired to his room near that of his wife.

No sound was heard which had any connection with the fatal accident during the night by members of his family.

It is the belief of John Harron, who came to Berkeley early this morning, that his partner, who has had occasional attacks of heart weakness, had a misstep which caused Rickard to plunge outward. The window was always left open at night.

Among the first friends and associates summoned to the Rickard home this morning were Harron, Superintendent Douglas Keith of the California Institute for the Deaf and Blind, who has been an intimate acquaintance for twenty-three years, and Waring Wilkinson, emeritus principal of the same institution.

Mrs. Rickard and the members of her family were in a state of collapse this morning following the discovery of the body.

Douglas Keith said today that Rickard was an enthusiast in athletics, a man of good health and fine spirits. The loss of his friend keenly felt by Keith.

IN BERKELEY 30 YEARS.

Thomas Rickard was 43 years of age and a native of France. He came to Berkeley with his parents more than 30 years ago and has since resided at the Rickard homestead at 2720 Bancroft way. His father, Reuben Rickard, a mining engineer of note who died about fifteen years ago while in Australia investigating a mining project, was in early days manager of the Richmond Consolidated Mining Company of Eureka, Nevada.

Like the other members of the family, Thomas Rickard was interested in the mining business, having for years been connected with a firm in San Francisco which deals in mining machinery.

Rickard was to have taken part tonight as a singer in the Bohemian Club Jinks in San Francisco. He was known as a brilliant entertainer and was much sought after by the clubs of which he was a member. He belonged to the Bohemian Club of San Francisco, the Athenian Club of Oakland, the San Francisco Club of San Francisco, and the San Francisco Club of San Francisco.

EMPEROR OF JAPAN SENDS WORD TO TAFT

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Baron Uchida, the Japanese Ambassador, called at the White House today and presented to President Taft a personal message from the Emperor of Japan. The Emperor warmly reciprocates President Taft's assurances of friendship between the two countries.

Hewitt Consolidation Bill Defeated in State Senate

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—The bill, introduced by Senator Hewitt of Los Angeles providing for the annexation by one large city in one county of other cities in other counties, was defeated in the Senate today by a vote of twenty to eleven in the affirmative. This means that there is no chance, at this session at least, of any more attempts being made by San Francisco to be done with Oakland as was proposed to be done by the Wolfe measure, which was killed by the Senate a week ago.

Deputy Sheriff Is Shot Dead by Asylum Inmate

DES MOINES, March 25.—Dr. H. B. Kelly of Council Bluffs, while being taken to the inebriate asylum at Knoxville, whipped a revolver from his pocket and instantly killed Deputy Sheriff Clarence Woolman also of Council Bluffs, while the latter was taking him from the Rock Island station to the Union depot in Des Moines early today. Edward Sturz, a barkeeper, hearing the shots, ran to the officer's assistance and was himself fatally wounded. Kelly is under arrest.

Gamblers Use Sawdust as Weapon to Escape Police

NEW YORK, March 25.—Sawdust is the latest weapon of the New York gamblers against their foes, the police raiders. It was used effectively last night when eleven bluecoats assaulted a surrounded gambling house in the downtown district. The police were breaking their way into the place with axes, when suddenly the wall gave way and they were burned under four tons of sawdust which blinded them for several minutes. The gamblers and their patrons took advantage of this temporary blindness of the raiders to escape.

Rebels Say That Peace Negotiations Must Be Conducted Under an Armed Truce

With the terms upon which the revolutionary leader would accept peace and laid a plain statement of his demands before Limantour at their conferences.

In spite of the resignation of the Mexican cabinet the junta here declared today that there would be no cessation in the war zone. It is declared Madero will continue to prevent railroad and telegraphic communication throughout Northern Mexico and will endeavor to capture more towns as basis of supplies. The demand that Diaz declare null his last election and agree to a new election for President will not be rejected.

The popular election of governors of states and federal politicians will be insisted upon. The junta declares any negotiations must be conducted under an armed truce.

Nevertheless the selections made by Diaz for a new cabinet, it is thought, will have an important bearing on the insurrection. Miguel Amador, governor of the State of Chihuahua, who has been looked upon as a possible minister of the interior, is regarded by the insurgents as a leader of the reform movement.

CABINET POSSIBILITIES. Limantour and Bernardo Reyes, former minister of war, now in Europe on a military mission, are regarded as men who will figure prominently in the new cabinet, if the wishes of the insurgents are considered.

"It is impossible at present for us to draw definite conclusions from the cabinet resignations," said Gonzalo Garza, insurrecto secretary of state. "We are not certain that it is not a ruse intended to appease the revolutionists without granting our demands. We will not lay down our arms until Diaz is out."

Maneuver Camps Again Drenched by Heavy Downpour

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 25.—The frequently drenched maneuver camp at Fort Sam Houston and the brigade camp at Leon Springs were again soaked by heavy rain last night. The downpour continued today.

At Leon Springs, General Smith has only shelter tents, whose protection is not the best. To keep dry in them, one must lie at full length.

Reported Battle Did Not Occur at Chocolate Pass

EL PASO, Tex., March 25.—The Herald received advice today from its correspondent in Mexico that the report of a battle at Chocolate Pass last week was never fought. No rebels or federals were near there at that time.

In Juarez it is stated that General Rebago did not leave the tracks of the Mexican National Railway when going southward. Rebago's command was the one reported to have fought at Chocolate Pass, but it could not have been there, as he is now near Chihuahua.

Mail advices to the Herald state that federal soldiers at Casas Grandes took all the machinery from the meal and flour mill.

Doctors were also sent from Tifton on a special train and the company doctors from Waycross went to the scene on a handcar. It will be thirty-six hours before the track is cleared.

land and the Claremont Country Club besides being a Knight Templar.

At the time of his death Rickard was a member of the Board of Directors of the California Institution for the Blind. From 1902 to 1908 he was mayor and president of the Board of Trustees of Berkeley.

For years he was a soloist in the choir of the First Presbyterian church of Oakland. He was a member of the Episcopal church.

WAS COLLEGE GRADUATE.

Rickard was graduated from the University of California with the class of 1887, and was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. In 1888 he married Miss Alice Whittemore of Ceres, Cal., who had attended the University of California.

For the last twenty years he has resided in Berkeley. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Helen and Leontine, who are almost grown, and two sons, Donald and Thomas, Jr., who are attending public school.

His brother, Edgar Rickard, is editor of a mining journal in London. T. A. Rickard, a mining expert and editor of the Mining and Scientific Press of San Francisco, is a cousin. He is in England.

The funeral services for Rickard will be held Monday morning at 11 o'clock at the chapel of the Oakland crematory. Rev. C. N. Nash, deacon of the Pacific Theological Seminary, will conduct the service. The remains will be cremated.

Rickard had planned to play golf at the Claremont Country Club this afternoon. He was an ardent devotee of this sport and of bowling.

The State University athletes had no difficulty in taking the three places in the hammer throw, which was held this morning prior to the track meet.

The N. C. men who finished at first, second and third places were H. Babcock, first; K. Shartuck, second; S. H. Thompson, third. Distance 135 feet.

Cambridge Wins From Oxford in Big Meet

Inter-Varsity Contest at Queen's Club Ends in Score of 6 to 4.

LONDON, March 25.—Cambridge won in the annual Inter-Varsity sports with Oxford at Queen's Club today, with six points to four.

G. E. Putnam, a Rhodes scholar at Oxford from Kansas, was an easy winner in the hammer throw, beating the varsity record with a mark of 153 feet 8 inches.

W. S. Seliger from Iowa, also of the Oxford team, was second with a throw of 134 feet one inch.

R. L. Lange of Oklahoma, a third Rhodes scholar, who was expected to credit Oxford with the 100-yard wash, was beaten by MacMillan of Cambridge by half a yard. MacMillan's time was 10 seconds.

Two years ago Putnam, won the hammer throw, making 146 feet 8 inches.

Seliger captured the weight event to day with 39 feet 6 1/4 inches. Putnam was second with 37 feet 3 1/4 inches.

Lange started in the quarter mile race, but proved quite out of the running and soon gave up.

Study the Above Diagram! It Will Put Money Into Your Pocket

The lower point of the big V represents Fourteenth and Broadway, Oakland.

Fourteen Heights is just as carefully restricted as Central Piedmont.

The right-hand top of the V represents a small section of Fourth Avenue Heights, also high-class hillslope residence property.

But look at the difference in prices as indicated in the diagram!

Central Piedmont held at from $75 to $105 a front foot.

Fourth Avenue Heights selling at as little as $20 a front foot.

Why this difference?

It is NOT a matter of the VIEW, for Fourth Avenue Heights has exactly the same sweeping outlook on Tamalpais, the Golden Gate, the bay, with its shipping, and the distant ranges that Central Piedmont has.

It is NOT a matter of IMPROVEMENTS, for Fourth Avenue Heights ALSO has macadamized avenues, concrete sidewalks, water, sewers, gas and electricity.

It is NOT a matter of NEARNESS, for Fourth Avenue Heights is exactly as near the heart of the city.

It is NOT a matter of CAR SERVICE, for Fourth Avenue Heights has a MUCH BETTER electric-traction service, being FIVE MINUTES NEARER the center of the city, by a line running RIGHT THROUGH the property, on a 100-foot boulevard.

It is NOT a matter of PARKS, for nothing could be more beautiful than the park areas that adjoin FOURTH AVENUE HEIGHTS.

It is NOT a matter of APPROACH, for the APPROACH to Fourth Avenue Heights, past Lake Merritt, Peralta Park, Arbor Villa, etc., is MUCH MORE attractive than that to Central Piedmont.

It is NOT a matter of RESTRICTIONS, for Fourth Avenue Heights.

We confidently believe that considering the opening of the Panama Canal and the coming Exposition, the plans for the completion of the Key Route past the property; the fact that this is the LAST TRACT of the kind to be placed on sale, and the splendid prospects for the growth of the city, that values in our Fourth Avenue Heights property will increase quite as notably in the NEXT FIVE YEARS as in our Central Piedmont property during the five years past.

TODAY AND TOMORROW ARE THE BIG DAYS

Last Sunday was one of the biggest and most exciting sales in recent real estate history.

The lots selected by buyers last Sunday were so widely scattered over the tract that there still remain CHOICE LOCATIONS IN EVERY BLOCK.

That the majority of these will be sold on Sunday is a practical certainty, so this is virtually your LAST CHANCE to get a select location.

A LUXURIOUS GROWTH OF HAIR

Does Not Follow Neglect of the Scalp.

Aside from combing it when they think necessary many people give no attention whatever to their hair. Then when the hair begins to fall out it never occurs to them that their trouble is the result of personal negligence.

An occasional application of Newbro's Herpicide will not only prevent loss of hair but permits a luxuriant growth.

Herpicide kills the germ that causes dandruff and to this germ most hair losses are attributable. It keeps the scalp clean and free from dirt, allowing the hair to grow unhampered by accumulation of dandruff.

Newbro's Herpicide is sold by all druggists and its manufacturers have such confidence in its germ destroying power that they authorize all druggists to guarantee the one dollar size bottles to do as claimed on money refunded.

RECORDS BROKEN ON CANAL WORK

In One Day 80,341 Cubic Yards of Earth Are Taken From Big Channel.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—All records for daily excavation in the central division of the Panama canal were broken on Saturday, March 11, according to the Canal Record. On that day the amount of material excavated in that division aggregated 80,341 cubic yards. Fifty-one steam shovels and two "orange peel" cranes removed 70,484 cubic yards of this amount.

Excavation along the Chagres river between Gatun and Culebra cut is within 600,000 cubic yards of completion. It is hoped that by the middle of next month all work which the central division forces can do during the present year will have been completed.

JURY WOULD CONSOLIDATE STOCKTON AND COUNTY

STOCKTON, March 25.—The San Joaquin county grand jury closed its session yesterday with a recommendation to the city council of Stockton proposing that the county of San Joaquin be allowed to take over most of the city offices. The plan means to abolish the municipal government as it now exists and place the office of city treasurer, city assessor, city health officer, board of health and chief of police shall be taken over and be exclusively managed by the corresponding offices in the county government.

This would mean that the sheriff takes the office of chief of police, the county health officer, the city health officer and so on until the entire consolidation was completed. The office of city assessor, city health officer, board of health and chief of police shall be taken over and be exclusively managed by the corresponding offices in the county government.

The proposition has created a mild sensation here and is being much talked about because of the prominence of the grand jurors.

LAST CHAPTER STARTED IN HISTORY OF MINE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—The concluding chapter in the history of one of Nevada's most famous mines has begun here by the filing of a petition asking for the dissolution of the Monte Cristo Silver Mining Company. The company was incorporated in 1863 with a capital of $1,500,000 to operate a mine in Storey county, Nevada. In 1878 the capital was increased to $10,000,000, as the mine had proved to be one of the richest producers in the State.

Today the petition recites that the mine is no longer productive. The directorate of the company reads like a roster of bonanza pioners.

TWO SICKLY CHILDREN Made Well by Vinol; Letters From Grateful Mothers.

New Haven, Conn.—"My little girl ever since her birth has been sickly and nothing seemed to do her any good, until we tried your cod liver and liver tonic, Vinol. Another mother of Chicago, Ill., writes: "My little girl was thin, run-down, pale and without any appetite. Vinol gave her a good appetite—she has rosy cheeks and has gained rapidly in flesh and strength. "I send you a check in a praise of Vinol for delicate, ailing children."

We ask every mother of a frail, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it does not do all we claim. The Olv Drug Co., Oakland, Cal.

Vandal Runs Riot in Beautiful Home of Mrs. E. L. Miller.

Vandalism ran riot in the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth L. Miller, of 228 Grand avenue, late yesterday afternoon when Val De Greve, a male professional nurse from San Francisco became enraged over Mrs. Miller's refusal to give him employment, and wrecked furniture and paintings and destroyed property valued at between $250 and $300.

After he had left the place, she telephoned to the police and a search for the man was made. He had apparently returned to San Francisco, and a description of him was given to the police of that city.

The mania of vandalism that suddenly took control of the man is unprecedented in the complaints made to the local police department. The man came to the house in answer to an advertisement for a professional nurse. He offered his services and explained that he could fill the requirements. Asked to name his terms he gave a figure considered by Mrs. Miller as excessive. She refused to hire him.

DAMAGES HIS PAY.

Taught the refusal to employ him as a personal affront, De Greve became angry and demanded that he be given the place. He said that he had taken the time to answer the advertisement and that he must have some compensation. Mrs. Miller ordered him to leave the house.

"I'll go," he shouted. "But I'll make you pay for turning me down. If you move or cry out, it is at your peril. Keep quiet and watch me make you pay."

He grasped a walking stick from a stand in the hallway and aimed a heavy blow at the plate glass mirror in a hat rack and stand, shattering the glass. He then drove Mrs. Miller before him into the drawing room and there commenced to destroy furniture.

DIVER NEAR DEATH AT BAY BOTTOM

Air Supply Cut Off When Barge on Surface is Overturned:

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—When a barge capsized in the bay yesterday Quartermaster J. C. Hicks of the United States navy narrowly escaped death by asphyxiation. In a diving suit Hicks was working on the floor of the bay laying water pipe near Yerba Buena Island. Air was forced down to him from an air pump maintained by several sailors standing on the barge, which went over into the water when a heavy swell from a Key Route boat struck the barge. With the air supply cut off and receiving no answer from his signals to the surface, Hicks soon lost consciousness and was only rescued by the prompt action of the sailors who pulled him up by the air line. Consciousness was restored by prompt measures used and Hicks is none the worse for his escape.

BIG EARS BAR YOUTH FROM UNCLE SAM'S ARMY

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 25.—Chas. R. Phillips, aged 18, of Carmi, Ill., would be a sailor boy were it not for the fact that his ears are too big. He applied to the recruiting office today and said the one ambition of his life was to be a sailor. His measure was taken and he was found to be in excellent condition. Finally his big ears were discovered by the officers at the station and they said the ears would bar him.

"Why, your ears are so big," they said, "and attract so much attention that all the sailors in the navy would tease you so that you would find life miserable. We cannot accept you."

Phillips was crestfallen over being turned down.

FAIL TO SOLVE PARK MYSTERY

Police Believe Patterson Was Shot Entering Wrong House.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—As the result of a careful investigation by the detectives, the belief is that Rollin Patterson, who was found wounded in Jefferson Square, was shot as the result of stumbling into the wrong house.

William H. Wood, formerly employed at the Chutes, was Patterson's companion Monday night when he was shot by the officers. He became acquainted with the injured man when the latter inquired regarding animals at the Chutes. The path visited the Star Theater and La Boheme cafe.

Patterson told Wood that he was living at the Golden West Hotel, but didn't know whether he would go back there again. Wood offered to accompany him part of the way down town, but he stated that he preferred being alone and gave the impression that he had an engagement with a woman.

He had been drinking a little, according to Wood, and it may be that he made a mistake in the house and was shot by some other person. The room became too warm and he was forced to make his way again to the street. By this time a crowd of men and women had gathered in the street and, forming a bucket brigade, soon had the flames under control.

Wood stated that Patterson had talked principally about Petaluma people, many of whom he himself knew.

HAYWARD SHAKEN BY SIMPLE LIFE

Mysterious Man Was Merely a Next to Nature Enthusiast From Canyon.

HAYWARD, March 25.—The mysterious man with the bushy beard and the long gashes on the side of his face from which the blood was flowing freely, who was seen running down the Dublin road and later through the main business section of Hayward Thursday afternoon, has been positively identified as the man who conducts the Simple Life Farm near the Palomares canyon. At first it was thought that the man knew something about the robbers of the town, but he was soon discovered to have taken place in the canyon.

A thorough investigation of the farm, however, dispelled all these doubts and the foundation of the rumors still velled. In fact, Anderson, most popular, two automobiles full of deputy sheriffs made a detour through the Dublin canyon and through the Palomares road, but could learn nothing more which would throw any light on the subject.

WAR CLOUDS HOVERING OVER THE FAR EAST

Russia Is Irritated by China's Attempt to Evoke Issue

Czar Accuses Mongolians of Mockery and Demands That His Views Be Accepted

PEKING, China, March 25.—M. Korostovtsev, the Russian minister to China, presented today to the Chinese foreign board a note from his government, demanding a full and unequivocal compliance with the Russian semi-ultimatum of February 16.

The situation is very grave. It is believed here that unless China accepts the Russian views unconditionally within a stated period forcible measures will follow. The "stated period" is not made known.

TEXT UNSATISFACTORY.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 25.—The Chinese replies to Russia's successive notes dealing with the demands of Russia in Mongolia have been described by the Chinese government as conciliatory, but the text in each case has been unsatisfactory.

The last Chinese note received by the Russian government consents to the establishment of a consulate at Khabarovsk, whereas Russia demanded its location at Chiarusimo, to which place the Chinese transferred the administrative seat of the district.

The Chinese reply also attempts to limit Russia's rights to trade to articles of foreign origin, whereas the treaty specifies that Russia's rights extend to merchandise of any origin.

CHARGES MOCKERY.

This reply also denies the right of the Russians to trade in tea, which is one of Russia's most important contentions. It also proposes to place Russian tradesmen on equal conditions with natives. This would subject Russians to taxes and imposts not contemplated by the treaty.

The Novo Vremya, the leading article which betrays the intention of the government to accuse the Chinese of mockery and demands that an ultimatum with a fixed term for its satisfaction be sent to China.

STANDS PAT ON CURTIN TAX BILL

Assembly Refuses to Recede in Adoption of Eighty-Nine Amendments.

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—The Assembly refused today to recede from its position in adopting eighty-nine amendments to the Curtin tax measure drawn to put in operation the new system of taxation. The bill will be sent back to the Assembly from the Senate, the latter body refusing to concur in the Assembly amendments. The refusal of the Assembly will throw the bill in a conference committee, which will be appointed today.

The ways and means committee, financial bill summarizing all the general appropriations, was passed by the Assembly today.

The total appropriations for State institutions and State government, exclusive of schools, is $10,830,000, which amount, allowing for slight changes in the Senate, is about $1,000,000 more than the general appropriation of last year.

There is believed to be little hope of the Cambini anti-injunction bill becoming a law. The Assembly judiciary committee released the bill with an unfavorable recommendation last night but its passage will require a two-thirds vote of the Assembly, and it will be necessary to rush it through the second and third readings on a single day.

Assemblyman Brown's bill prohibiting nepotism in State administrative and judicial offices was passed by the Assembly by a vote of 45 to 20, but was practically killed by Assemblyman Bishop, who gave notice that he will move to reconsider, which probably will delay the bill past hope of passage.

The Senate passed a bill providing that at general elections preceding election of a United States Senator, the names of those who under the new primary law have received the highest number of votes for United States Senator in each party shall be placed upon the ballot.

A bill for a special election October 10, 1911, to vote on constitutional amendments adopted at the present session was passed.

A bill by Senator Finn, providing that employees of the State printer's office be paid on State holidays was the last Senate bill to be passed at the present session. When the vote was announced Senator Finn, in the chair, declared the hour of noon to have arrived, after which time only Assembly bills could be considered.

NEW LINE WILL EXTEND TRACKS

Hanford and Summit Lake Railroad Company Announces Plans.

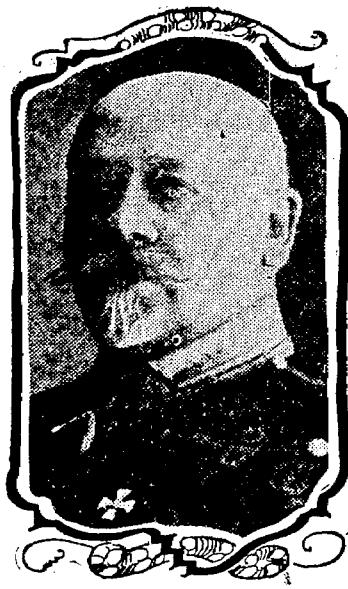

FRESNO, March 25.—It was announced today that the Hanford and Summit Lake Railroad Company will extend its line from Hardwick, in Kings county, to Jamison, 26 miles west of this city. The line will be 36 miles in length and with the exception of four miles will be located in Fresno county.

It will run through the 80,000-acre stock ranch known as the James property and the announcement is made that as soon as the road is completed the ranch will be placed upon the market in subdivisions.

Work on the new road will begin within thirty days, say the directors, who met with local men in this city today. The line will connect at Menlo with the Southern Pacific, and it is thought that the latter company is interested.

MRS. B. SNEATHEN NAMES ALLEGED AFFINITY

Husband Is Accused of Taking Walks at Night With Mrs. Hubbard.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE TELLS OF HIS SPYING

Clerk in Shoe Store Declares There Was Second Soul Mate in Case.

During the trial this forenoon of Bertha A. Sneathen's suit for a divorce from William B. Sneathen, on the ground of extreme cruelty and failure to provide, Superior Judge T. W. Harris compelled the plaintiff, while on the witness-stand, to give the name of the woman with whom she alleged her complainant Sneathen transferred his affections after the couple separated. It was while Mrs. Sneathen was relating to the court that on a certain evening shortly after the separation she and her minor daughter, Georgina C. Sneathen, saw Sneathen leave the Athens Hotel, where he was staying, and meet a woman who had followed him out of the hotel, and take her to a Liberty Playhouse.

"What is the name of the woman?" demanded Judge Harris.

"I prefer not to mention her name, your honor," said Mrs. Sneathen.

NAME IS DEMANDED.

"If there is any agreement between this plaintiff and defendant to keep the identity of this woman a secret, the court is not party to it. You will answer my question, Mrs. Sneathen."

The witness then gave the name of Mrs. Hubbard, a permanent guest at the Athens.

Later on during the trial C. R. Carey, a private detective, was placed on the stand by Attorney Benjamin F. Bergen, representing Mrs. Sneathen in all of her litigation, to testify on Sneathen's alleged clandestine associations with Mrs. Hubbard. Carey testified that he had been employed by Mrs. Sneathen right after their separation to watch her husband and that he did so almost daily for more than two weeks, during which time Sneathen met Mrs. Hubbard almost daily outside the hotel, usually in the darkness. Sneathen was at the postoffice building. The pair, according to Carey's testimony, walked about the residential district of the city for an hour or two and then separated, Mrs. Hubbard returning alone to the Athens and Sneathen following a few minutes afterwards.

ANOTHER WOMAN IN CASE.

Another witness, C. A. Day, a clerk in the shoe store of F. Senrum & Co., jogged another alleged affinity into the case during the few minutes that he was on the stand. He said he only knew the woman by sight and that she resided in Fifty-fifth street. He saw her in Sneathen's company in San Francisco on Admission Day, 1910.

The burden of Mrs. Sneathen's complaint against her husband, as aduced by Attorney Bergen, was that her husband never properly provided for herself and their two minor children, the daughter and William S. Sneathen, both of whom are aligned with their mother in this legal fight; that when she was very ill he never seemed to care whether she lived or died, complaining that every time Dr. J. H. Todd visited her professionally it cost $5; that he called her an idiot and accused her of not being a proper woman to raise children, and that he not only hypothecated her $5000 worth of shares in the store of Frederick Senrum, her deceased father, to the Central bank for a loan of $3400 without her knowledge or consent, but that he then compounded to assume the obligation to service a loan.

At this time Sneathen was employed at the Senrum store at a salary of $20 a week, but in addition to this he received the dividend from $5000 worth of stock he held in the concern. The testimony brought out the fact that at the time the Sneathens were married Mrs. Sneathen's father gave to each of them as a wedding present 5000 shares of stock in his store.

WIFE IS WEALTHY.

Sneathen is making no fight to prevent Mrs. Sneathen from getting her divorce, but he is contesting the amount for $150 alimony and for the support and maintenance of the two minor children. He is represented by Attorney H. L. Breed, and in connection with Mrs. Sneathen's separate property interests it was shown today that aside from her Piedmont home, valued at $11,000, she has at least a half interest in her father's estate and probably is the sole heir. This all depends upon the will of the property brought by Pauline Senrum, deceased wife and surviving widow of Frederick Senrum, which is now pending in the probate department of the Superior Court.

With reference to the estate Mrs. Sneathen, in answer to questions put to her by Attorney Bergen, said that one piece of property was located in Chinatown, at the corner of Eighth and Webster streets. She said that it was at present occupied by Chinese and brought a monthly income of $300, but that under other conditions it would not rent for more than $50.

When the noon-hour came and at the request of Attorney Bergen, Judge Harris continued the hearing until next Thursday morning.

Changing Conditions in Mexico.

Despite Senor Limantour's denials that he bore peace proposals from the insurgent leaders to the Diaz government events tend to show that he is endeavoring to bring about an adjustment that will induce the revolutionists to lay down their arms and submit to the constituted authority. Apparently he has the co-operation of Diaz, who desires to die in peace and leave his country tranquil, prosperous and united.

The resignation of the entire Mexican cabinet can be construed in no other way than as a step toward a peace adjustment. It has followed so close on the heels of Limantour's return to Mexico that the relation between the resignation and his return is unmistakable. Diaz was not displeased with the cabinet and Limantour, who resigned with his colleagues, has all along been spoken of with respect and confidence by the insurrecto leaders. Limantour has been the close friend of the Madero family for two generations, and in New York conferred with the father and brothers of Francisco Madero, the insurrecto chief. While none of the parties would make a statement, the guarded utterances of those who participated in the conference and the polite terms in which they referred to each other, clearly indicated an effort to reach an agreement that would placate the insurgents and bring about a cessation of hostilities.

Of course Diaz cannot formally treat with rebels in arms, but he can arrive at an understanding that will promote peace. The basis would seem to be the retirement from the cabinet of the unpopular ministers and the inauguration of certain reforms, particularly as to land tenures and the granting of general amnesty to all concerned in the rebellion. Dispatches from Mexico say Diaz has in contemplation the reforms demanded, and the resignation of the ministry is evidence that the cabinet will be recast on a popular basis.

Much of the popular discontent in Mexico today is due to the fact that all power has heretofore been centered in the hands of the great landowners. So the curse of land monopoly has taken the form of a political oligarchy. Don Enrique Creel, formerly Ambassador to the United States, is one of the largest landowners in the republic. While Ambassador to Washington he held the office of Governor of Chihuahua by appointment from Diaz and appointed all the jefes politicos within his jurisdiction. For a time after he became minister of foreign affairs he continued to exercise the functions of Governor of Chihuahua. The insurrection in that State is directed against Creel and the political and land system he represents. He is connected by blood ties with the Terazzas, who own immense land possessions in northern, western and southern Mexico, and are held in abhorrence by the peon class.

Among the abuses Madero denounces against is the alliance of a tyrannical political system with an unjust and oppressive land system, the concentration of power in a few hands, and the employment of the military to sustain the arbitrary exercise of this power, and the general restraint put upon the progress of the masses by the concentration of all power in hands of the great landed estate owners. Madero says the vast land holdings of the hacendados must be broken up and the power of the landholders destroyed. Diaz has lately expressed a desire to provide a way by government land purchase, for cutting up the great estates into small holdings for the people. He wants to create a system of peasant proprietorship similar to the one that is being created in Ireland under the land purchase act. His object, he says, is to foster agricultural development and give the common people an opportunity to acquire homes. His plan, if carried out, must inevitably dismember the vast estates and break the power of the hacendados.

Possibly the resignation of the cabinet is the initial step toward making such a policy operative and toward a redress of other grievances that will pacify the country. The continuance of the internecine struggle has aroused apprehension among all classes that the United States may intervene for the protection of the enormous American and European interests in Mexico. Our government has no wish to intervene, and it may readily be assumed that Diaz is very much averse to it. Intervention would tend to destroy faith abroad in the stability of Mexican institutions and the ability of the Mexican people to preserve their independence. Diaz does not wish to close his long lease of power with a confession that he is unable to maintain domestic order or to keep his country free from invasion and coercion.

Senator Beveridge's Indiana organ says Senator Bailey is not a Democrat. What difference does that make to the Grand Young Man? Why does he mourn that Joe Bailey is not a Democrat? By any other name he would smell as sweet.

Wide spaces should not separate kindred souls.

Colonel Edward D. Baker.

A movement is being agitated in Oregon to remove the remains of Colonel E. D. Baker to Salem for interment on the Oregon capitol grounds. It is claimed that Colonel Baker was a distinguished Oregonian who sacrificed his life at the battle of Ball's Bluff for the preservation of the Union. Colonel Baker's body lies in Mountain View cemetery.

It has taken Oregon a long time to remember that she owed any remembrance to Colonel Baker. That is not singular, for he was never really a resident or a citizen of the State. He was a distinguished citizen of California and went to Oregon because he was invited to come and be elected United States Senator. He was elected shortly after his arrival and almost immediately departed for Washington and from that moment till the day of his tragic death he was in the thick of the troublous events which culminated in the Civil War. He never really had a home in Oregon.

Nevertheless Colonel Baker shed great lustre on Oregon. He was by far the most brilliant and eloquent man she ever sent to Congress. He fixed himself in the eye of the nation from the moment he entered the Senate. He owed his election to his fame, his commanding abilities and his courageous devotion to the Union. His fearless attacks on disunion and his denunciation of slavery made him an attractive figure among a galaxy of famous men. Although his service in the Senate was short he is still Oregon's great Senator, the one hero the State has furnished to the national pantheon. Oregon has a right to claim his body and give it sepulchre in the shadow of her capitol. He belonged to the whole country, but it was Oregon that sent him to Washington with a heart inspired by patriotism and a voice tuned to the loftiest emotions of the human soul.

We agree with the Los Angeles Express that San Francisco should be given no unfair advantage in the matter of apportionment. But it is one thing to resist giving an unfair advantage and taking an unfair advantage. San Francisco wanted more than she was entitled to, but the Randall bill gives her a great deal less than her due. It is unfair in many other respects. The ratio of representation should be the same in San Francisco that it is in Los Angeles. For San Francisco the Randall bill allows one Assemblyman to every group of 41,600 inhabitants; Los Angeles is given one for every 36,000 inhabitants. Surely the Express will not contend that there is any justice in any such arrangement. If any favor is to be shown in the matter of apportionment San Francisco is entitled to it by reason of her misfortune and the difficulties which have attended her rehabilitation since the calamity of April 18, 1906.

By the new charter the powers of the municipal government are concentrated in a few hands and the legislative and executive functions combined in the same officials. This system was devised to promote efficiency and economy and to give the governing body greater freedom of action. But if the concentrated and combined powers and the greater freedom of action are to be made instrumentalities of bossism and machine rule, the new charter is likely to prove a sore disappointment. There will be neither efficiency nor economy, and the greater freedom afforded the officials will be employed to reduce the city to still more abject submission to a boss. The very agencies devised for good government will be used for bad government and for those political purposes the new charter was framed to eliminate from municipal administration.

All the business interests in the State will breathe a sigh of relief at the announcement that the Legislature is soon to adjourn.

COUNTING THE SALMON

To count the salmon in Alaskan because the fisheries bureau, under authority bestowed upon it by Congress, has absolute control over all the salmon streams of Alaska. It tells the canning concerns where and when they may catch fish, and where and when they will not be allowed to catch them. If it could it could suspend the salmon fishery altogether for an indefinite period in Uncle Sam's Arctic province.

So far the salmon census is being destroyed, up to date, by two of the biggest cannery companies—the fisheries bureau having no funds to meet the expense involved, which amounts to about $8,000 a year. This, however, it should be understood, covers the cost only of counting salmon in one large river, which was picked out for an initial experiment.

The stream in question is the Wood River, which, for the purpose of census-taking, was closed for the time being to the commercial fishery. There was no trouble about arranging this,

TURKEY NEAR CRISIS

The sudden retirement of Talaat Bey, Turkish Minister of the Interior, last month, greatly shook waning European confidence in the stability of the present administration. The resignation of Rifaat Pasha, Minister of Foreign Affairs, is said to impend. No one would be surprised to see the whole Cabinet fall. Every one is puzzled as to the reasons for Talaat Bey's exit from office. Criticisms regarding the recent destructive fire in the Porte are assigned, as are also some rather violent onslaughts made on him in the chamber. He himself is reported to have told the members of Parliament of his group that "attacks from within and without and the lack of confidence of the Committee of Union and Progress had made him sick at heart. General opinion throughout Europe holds these explanations totally inadequate. Yet no one has any very intelligible theory to substitute. The Bagdad railway is hinted at, but its bearing on the event is not indicated. However, there is agreement of opinion that the occurrence shows the shaky situation of things Turkish. The successor of Talaat is Khalil Bey, who belongs to the same parliamentary group and who says his program will be identical with his predecessor's. Even this increases the uneasiness, since it makes the need for the change harder to understand. It is noted, incidentally, that a meeting of the Committee of Union and Progress was formally held to grant Khalil permission to accept the office. Vienna solemnly concludes that a military dictatorship is only a question of time in Turkey.—New York Sun.

WHEN 'SUPERS' FOUGHT FORREST

Stephen Fiske tells a good story of Edwin Forrest, when that tragedian was still young and more famous for his muscle than for his genius. He was acting a Roman warrior and was supposed to be attacked by six minors of a detected tyrant. At the rehearsal Forrest found fault with the supers. They were tame. They didn't lay hold of him. They wouldn't go at him as if they were in a real fight. Forrest stormed and threatened; the supers sulked and consulted. At length the captain of the supers said: "You want this to be a bully fight, eh?" "I do," said Forrest. "All right," said the captain, and the rehearsal was brought to a close.

In the evening the theater was packed and Forrest was enthusiastically received. When the fighting scene came the tragedian took the center of the stage, and the six minors entered rapidly and de-

THE COST OF WAR

Mr. H. L. Clotworthy, a military student, points out that between 1789 and 1890, exclusive of loans, the total income of the government has been $21,401,639; 121. The expenditures for wars and pensions during the same period aggregate $10,584,850,665, showing that more than half of our total governmental revenues have been expended in wars and consequent pensions.

The total cost of the world's armament for 1910 was $1,551,000,000. This, he goes on to say in his article "The United States Army" in the World's Work, is being carried by the combined civilized powers. In pensions alone, resultant from but a single war, this government is paying a fixed interest rate of 10 per cent every year on the total cost of world armament, with every prospect of the amount being increased. In other words, while the average American citizen points wisely to the fact that "every German peasant is carrying a soldier on his back," as an arraignment of military burdens of Europe, he is complacently carrying an old soldier or two himself, the chief difference being that the soldier which the German is carrying is prepared to fight, while the soldier the American is carrying did his fighting fifty years ago. The German army entered the Franco-Prussian war prepared and the war lasted four months. The United States entered the Civil War unprepared and the war lasted four years.

GOSSIP FROM SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

Rebuke to a Young Sprig

The smart set is giggling over the rebuke administered a young sprig of Hillsborough. The young man was in invertebrate attendance at the "Madame Sherry" productions, and ran up a big florist's bill in order to strew the path of one of the principals with posies which she divided with her chums in the cast. Likewise, she insisted that suppers a few were taboo, and so their little excursions to the cafes were flanked on all sides by friends. Naturally, the girls threw many a smile in his direction, for were they not eating his lobsters and wearing orchids? One night the special object of his admiration received a communication to the effect that he would be a member of a box party that night, chaperoned by his mother, and as the guests would be of his "own set," he asked them not to "play at him" as he did not wish his mother and her friends to feel annoyed, and so on ad caddish.

Bah! Everybody Was Disappointed

Perhaps George Lewis, manager of Shreve Co., the big jewelry firm, is somewhat surprised because the purloiner of Jennie Crocker's $30,000 pearl necklace failed to keep his promise to meet him in the Third street hotel and return the gem in exchange the $10,000 cash exacted for returning the necklace. The foolish rumor started by business rivals that the cause of the hotel sneak's non-appearance was due to the fact that a score of bristling armed and fierce looking detectives were banked around Mr. Lewis expectantly waiting to spring upon the non-suspecting thief, is all bosh. The simple truth is that the purloiner of the gem had employed a brass band of 60 pieces, winged with a mounted squadron bearing the flags of all nations, and had provided himself with a six horse float supporting a golden canopy, under which he was to have been seated holding aloft on a blue plush cushion the beautiful $30,000 pearl necklace. With commendable forthrightness he carried in his inside vest pocket, carefully concealed from the curious throng, a typewritten receipt, which Mr. Lewis was expected to sign on the delivery of the goods. All was prepared; all was in readiness. When bang! At the psychological moment, like a bolt from the blue, the band struck. It was suddenly discovered that the necklace purloiner was not a bona fide purloiner of the smart set, a purloiner de rigueur, but only a common "dip." They booted him and the $30,000 necklace and his pretensions of the float and went home to their cold lunches in disgust. Hence the disappointment to the popularly patient waiting to witness the exciting dramatic finale of the arrest; hence the just executions on the part of the reflected detectives who had certainly expected more courtesy on the part of the necklace purloiner after he himself had made the engagement.—Town Talk.

Clubman and the Bunco Game

The other night a gentleman of over sixty, a well-known clubman, fell into the hands of a pair of bunco men. For the benefit of other clubmen of more good-will than caution, we outline the game. A young man of suave manners, meeting the elderly gentleman on the street, ingratiated himself into an acquaintance. He has met him before somewhere, he suggests, but just cannot recall the place or the time. He happens also to be going in the same direction as the clubman, and before parting induces him to let him go up to his quarters with him. Remaining there a little while he excuses himself and lets in his fellow-conspirator, who is supposed to be an officer. They accuse their victim of certain things, and at the point of a pistol make him to confess to them in writing, with a promise to pay over a certain amount of money at an appointed time and place, as the price of their silence. And if the victim is big enough, goes or too delicate of his position, they collect. The world being more or less ready at any time to believe a lie, a man of position is often obliged to be careful that none gets out. But the elderly clubman in the particular case we refer had nerve. He went to the Chief of Police and told the story. Then at the rendezvous in front of the Orpheum at the appointed time he met his man. He held him in conversation till a detective in plain clothes made the arrest. The Look-er-On was the only newspaper man on the story. Clubmen and others sauntering around at night and picking up acquaintances, had best exercise some care in the matter.—News Letter.

The Prescription Did the Work

The simple life idea always gains some ground during Lent, and following a desire to rusticate, three young women went over to Ross Valley and opened up the family home of one of the trio. The next day she announced that she could feel La Grippe knocking for admission, and requested the others to take a prescription to a San Rafael drug store and have it filled, as that prescription had routed a similar attack. The druggist read the prescription, which was signed by a well-known San Francisco physician, regarded the girls quizzically, but proceeded to put it up.

"It doesn't seem to taste like the other," groaned the invalid. "You've forgotten how it tasted," cheered the girls, and insisted on dosing her up three times a day. On the third day her brother came over. The invalid was well, and they were all congratulating themselves on having that prescription along. "Take some for your cold," they admonished Brother, who gulped down a swallow. "Why, that's the dope the doctor gave me when I had been going the pace too hard," he sputtered.

And sure enough, his sister found that she had sent the wrong prescription, and had been taking a medicine for alcoholism.—News Letter.

Naming the Summer Homes

I think it was Mrs. Gus Spreckels who said that any one could have a country place, but only a genius could find a name for it, and as she was not inflicted with genius, she would never have a country estate. Of a truth, mankind seems singularly limited in the matter of choosing appropriate names. There has been a great deal of adverse criticism of "The New Place," the official title of the magnificent estate of the Crockers at Hillsborough. It really named itself, for in planning the house and furnishings and gardens the family always said we must get this or that or the other for the new place. For several years before actual construction began, they spent much time in Europe, and when the woodwork of an old palace pleased their fancy, or a rug won their admiration, or a painting bid for favor, they would decide to get them for "the new place." So when it came to the christening, they found that this very name had squatting rights, and would go right on occupying the place in the vocabulary in spite of the fact that some day the New Place will be an old place, with all the charm that age gives.

Even those who seek a Jack of imagination in such a title as "The New Place," find it less amusing and ambiguous than "The Garden of Allah," for example, which the Ralston Whites have bestowed upon their new place in Mill Valley. It is beautifully wooded with madrone and manzanita, and stunning Woodwardia ferns grow in profusion. The view of Tamalpais is superb, but though you expand logic to the circumference of the horizon, you cannot see why "The Garden of Allah" is an appropriate name for the place. The "Psychology of Inappropriate Nomenclature" would be an interesting subject for some thesis, and then we might discover why we find "Peach Springs" in the deserts, where only canned peaches and barrelled water abound, and the wherefore of all the rest of the anomalous names.

The "Garden of Allah" inspired Mrs. Hugo Mansfeld to make her first trip to the Mansfield Desert, and so compelling was the fascination of the desert that she is again traveling with her own caravan, seeking places that no other white woman has ever visited. But with noble restraint, she did not name her home out near Golden Gate Park "The Garden of Allah."—News Letter.

Miss Schultz and Her Hat

The smart set is giggling over the rebuke administered a young sprig of Hillsborough. The young man was in invertebrate attendance at the "Madame Sherry" productions, and ran up a big florist's bill in order to strew the path of one of the principals with posies which she divided with her chums in the cast. Likewise, she insisted that suppers a few were taboo, and so their little excursions to the cafes were flanked on all sides by friends. Naturally, the girls threw many a smile in his direction, for were they not eating his lobsters and wearing orchids? One night the special object of his admiration received a communication to the effect that he would be a member of a box party that night, chaperoned by his mother, and as the guests would be of his "own set," he asked them not to "play at him" as he did not wish his mother and her friends to feel annoyed, and so on ad caddish.

Of course the "Sherry" girls had seen the cad under the rind of the good fellow, and their feelings were not wounded. But the note was so crude, so egotistical, so inexcusable, that they determined upon revenge, and a message brought a note to the young man which, of course, made the rest of the people in the box sit up and lorgnette. And mother lorgnetted out loud in her surprise. The gift of the note was that the girls had some friends in their "own set" in the audience, "really nice people, and would the young man please pretend not to know them, as it would be difficult for them to explain such an acquaintance to really nice people," and so on ad insulatum. Of course he was furious that the other people in the box snatched shares in the contents. But they have been most generous about them, going around giving them away at every opportunity! The young man and his family are the only ones who do not enjoy the rebuke.—News Letter.

The other night a gentleman of over sixty, a well-known clubman, fell into the hands of a pair of bunco men. For the benefit of other clubmen of more good-will than caution, we outline the game. A young man of suave manners, meeting the elderly gentleman on the street, ingratiated himself into an acquaintance. He has met him before somewhere, he suggests, but just cannot recall the place or the time. He happens also to be going in the same direction as the clubman, and before parting induces him to let him go up to his quarters with him. Remaining there a little while he excuses himself and lets in his fellow-conspirator, who is supposed to be an officer. They accuse their victim of certain things, and at the point of a pistol make him to confess to them in writing, with a promise to pay over a certain amount of money at an appointed time and place, as the price of their silence. And if the victim is big enough, goes or too delicate of his position, they collect. The world being more or less ready at any time to believe a lie, a man of position is often obliged to be careful that none gets out. But the elderly clubman in the particular case we refer had nerve. He went to the Chief of Police and told the story. Then at the rendezvous in front of the Orpheum at the appointed time he met his man. He held him in conversation till a detective in plain clothes made the arrest. The Look-er-On was the only newspaper man on the story. Clubmen and others sauntering around at night and picking up acquaintances, had best exercise some care in the matter.—News Letter.

Prosecution Fights to Introduce Affidavit into the Case.

Dr. C. Howard Merritt's trial in the criminal department of the Superior court, for prosecuting alleged fraudulently of mining enterprises, was continued yesterday morning. Everett J. Brown until next Tuesday morning.

Testimony introduced late yesterday afternoon by Assistant District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes was to the effect that when he was arranging to secure a 3000-acre tract of land in Inyo county, in the vicinity of the California oil belt, Merritt caused to be made an affidavit that the property was non-mineral, was only good for mining purposes, and that he entered into an agreement to convey it. Afterwards, the accusers declare, when he had secured the land he began advertising that it was rich in petroleum and gypsum and that investment in the Halloway-Pacific Mining Company, a corporation he promoted, was a short, quick and sure way to great riches.

AD CAUSES ARREST.

This advertisement is what caused Dr. Merritt's arrest on the felony charge that he is at present facing and after a lengthy argument Assistant District Attorney Hynes succeeded in getting the affidavit he signed. Its object being to show that Dr. Merritt knew all along that the land was valueless as an oil and gypsum producer.

Attorney A. L. Fitch of counsel for Dr. Merritt interposed a motion after the admission of the affidavit that the jury be instructed to disregard the affidavit on the ground that it was required by state and city law that Dr. Merritt to a belief that the statements made therein were true, because under the law he could not know whether or not there was oil on the land until wells were sunk. Judge Brown took the matter under advisement until Tuesday with the intimation that he would sustain the motion. If this is done the affidavit will be eliminated from the prosecution's case.

RICHMOND MAY BUILD TUNNEL

Bond Issue of $130,000 for the Work Has Been Proposed.

RICHMOND, March 25.—The statement by Dr. S. S. Walker that the Santa Fe would give the use of its dockage facilities and right of way to aid the municipal wharf project in Richmond has given a big impetus to that proposition. The city's part is to construct a tunnel connecting with the Santa Fe dock on the western waterfront, and the proposition is to do this by a bond issue. It would cost about $130,000, and it is supposed that $50,000 at least could be obtained for a franchise for an electric road through the tunnel to connect with all parts of Richmond.

Walker also says that work on the great connecting thoroughfare, Ashland, will commence at once. The plans are ready. This avenue would be extended through the tunnel and be a big factor in making a more compact city.

The building of the tunnel will in no way interfere with the other major project, that is, large storage and docks in which the government will assist. The visit of John Nicholl, local capitalist, to Washington to see the government officials on this project, is expected to be prolific of results, as Nicholl received advices before starting that showed action would soon be taken.

The Southern Pacific Company will begin at once extensive enlargements of its yards and extensions of trackage.

SEARCY SILENT AS TO RUMORS

New Grand Jury to Be Called to Investigate Shortage in Accounts.

MARTINEZ, March 25.—Rumors which former Tax Collector John Searcy, whose books show a shortage of $1412.63, refuses to either affirm or deny, are to the effect that the one-time county official has refused to repay any money into the county treasury. Searcy was asked if there was any truth in the rumor, but refused to answer.

Searcy has been asked to make good the deficit in the treasury, but is said to have refused to do this, because of his contention that when he did so it would amount to a confession of guilt.

Judge R. H. Latimer has ordered a venture of fifty names to be drawn, returnable April 15, from which will be chosen a grand jury of seventeen men, whose first duty will be the investigation of the shortage in the Tax Collector's office.

Experts will be employed to go over the books and report to the new grand jury.

The shortage in Searcy's books was discovered by Martin Jost, Tax Collector. Jost discovered that the books show a shortage of $660.37 taxes. The company has in its office a returned check showing that $663.18 was drawn in the payment of taxes.

WOMAN AND PAJAMAS

SAN JOSE, March 25.—After causing a stirring scene in the lobby of a hotel here, in which charges and counter charges were made, and which was featured by the dramatic entry and exit of a man clad only in pajamas, two San Francisco salesmen, William Rogers and C. M. Max, are lodged in separate cells in the county jail charged with grand larceny. Each man's companion and a dog, and the bone of contention, in addition to a woman, Miss Amelia Jack, is $100. Both were arraigned by Justice of the Peace Wallace yesterday noon, and in lieu of bail in the sum of $2000 apiece are being held for preliminary examination, which has been set for April 5.

TO EXHIBIT WORK.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Starting today and extending over a period of thirteen days, the San Francisco Art Association will hold an exhibition of drawings and paintings by American illustrators. The exhibit has aroused much interest on both sides of the bay, as the collection of paintings is considered an unusually fine one.

The Institute will be open daily from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., Sunday excepted.

Grand Voting Contest of The Oakland Tribune Proves Popularity of Greatest Evening Newspaper

No event that has transpired in Oakland this year has created the interest among the business interests of Oakland, as has the Great Popularity Contest that has just been successfully consummated.

The wide awake merchants of this city have long been anticipating some wonderful results from this contest. Their business expansion beyond the confines of Greater Oakland was dependent upon the results of this great Contest, because it is realized that THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE "covers Greater Oakland as the snow mantles the Sierras in January." Outside circulation was the one valuable asset that the merchant was most anxious to see materialize, and the results of the contest have reached beyond the fondest imagination.

Intense interest prevailed throughout the entire county. The contest was one of the most successful ever conducted on the Coast.

Every city and town in Alameda county today has welcomed THE TRIBUNE in great numbers.

Tribune Offices Crowded

The contest rooms of THE TRIBUNE were crowded Thursday evening by the contestants and their friends who witnessed the count. From Tuesday morning work had been wonderfully lively, and at 3 o'clock Thursday the last of the big mail had been entered in the books and all ready for the final decision.

But the most delightful to gaze upon were the happy, expectant faces of those who knew they had worked well, and later their exhilarated, joyous faces when the count was completed.

Of course there were some disappointments. There were possibly a few of the contestants who had underestimated the strength of their opponents; but this feature in a contest cannot be overcome, as much as THE TRIBUNE and contestants would like to avoid it. Some one must lose in a match for popularity, wit, endurance, or any line of endeavor, whatever often the winner loses by over-confidence. Often—but what's the use of philosophizing? "A GOOD LOSER." One hears a great deal about this fine quality of being able to stand defeat without going off into the woods and sulking until the crack of doom.

Committee of Prominent Citizens

One glance at the names of the committee of leading citizens who canvassed the votes ought to convince even the grumpiest pessimist upon this happy sphere that there was absolute fairness everywhere. Fairness and liberality have characterized the contest from the beginning and THE TRIBUNE is proud of the candidates' appreciation of the paper's aim. The names of those who counted the vote appears in another column.

Counting the Vote

The judges arrived at the contest headquarters shortly before the appointed hour. Promptly at that hour the contest closed, and an air of bushed expectancy fell over the crowded room. People discussed in undertone the prospects of this or that candidate, compared notes and waited somewhat nervously for the count to begin.

The count proceeded some time before the figures were finally announced. The candidates who had been waiting all this time drew long breaths of relief, and left the office jubilant.

Words written by one who is not a candidate will, of course, be miserably short of adequately expressing the happiness of the successful contestants.

Two Busy Months

During the last two months the prize winners have found out what it means to be "EVERLASTINGLY AT IT." The fact that they have performed noble work, will, of course enhance the enjoyment that will come with the prizes. Every one of the prizes will offer lasting enjoyment to the winners, and to all of these we extend our heartfelt good wishes.

Thanks Extended to All

THE TRIBUNE also thanks those who in any way furthered the interests of the candidates. To the judges who so kindly consented to act, THE TRIBUNE extends its special thanks.

THE TRIBUNE never meant this to be a "something for nothing" scheme, and all who won have earned their reward by ENERGY, AMBITION AND WORK. THE TRIBUNE did not vaunt itself as being engaged in the pleasant task of giving away valuable gifts from pure motives of philanthropy.

A Business Proposition

It was with us a business undertaking. There were people who had not had time to find out what a superior paper THE TRIBUNE is, and it was for the purpose of proving that THE TRIBUNE is the "PAPER DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE PEOPLE," printing "correct news all the time." If new and true, not otherwise, that the contest was inaugurated.

By means of this contest THE TRIBUNE is a welcome visitor in many thousands of homes not heretofore reached. In some homes where people were looking for the BEST it has been eagerly adopted, and for such length of time as proves that once started they have no intention of giving it up. Even in those homes where up to this time no paper has been read, a few samples were enough to convince the family that they could not do without THE TRIBUNE. Thus THE TRIBUNE stands out as the leading exponent of independent aggressiveness for every industry of Alameda county.

Contest Proved Attractive

The conditions of the contest proved attractive from the first, and as soon as the list was published the friendly rivalry began, not only among the contestants themselves, but among thousands of men, women and children in the city and surrounding country, seeking votes and subscriptions for their favorite candidates.

Everybody Well Satisfied

That everyone might have an equal chance, no matter where they lived, the territory was divided into four districts, and each one knew that A REASONABLE AMOUNT OF EFFORT WOULD BRING A HANDSOME REWARD, for there were four prizes in each district. In this way everyone was satisfied, which was the chief object of THE TRIBUNE.

Votes came from all parts of the United States, showing how wide is the friendship both of the contestants and of THE TRIBUNE. Only the stimulus of the contest was needed to bring this fact into prominence and to add many thousands of subscribers to our circulation.

Commercial Man Is Badly Injured in Attack of Highwayman.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Bereft of his shoes and hat and with blood flowing from a deep gash over his left eye, William Long, a railroad man, was not since been seen.

Two of the children have been taken care of by the sisters of the Notre Dame. The Associated Charities cared for the family since last December. The oldest boy, Julius Long, 13 years of age, was yesterday sent to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society in San Francisco where he will be given proper care and education.

The children will be taken care of by charitable institutions and the mother given a chance to help herself.

A sore throat can be treated best from the outside. The throat should be rubbed gently with BALLARD'S SNOW MILENT. Apply at night and cover with a cotton cloth bandage; by morning the soreness will disappear. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Wishart's drug

MISS BESSIE BENNETT.

Merchants Will Profit Greatly by Addition of Many Thousand New Subscribers in Adjoining Towns and Cities

The winners feel proud of their accomplishment. THE TRIBUNE expresses its thanks to its many friends, the contestants, the competent committee who canvassed the vote, and all those who in any way promoted the interests of the great $10,000 Prize Subscription Contest that made newspaper history in this city and section.

It was one of the biggest, most liberal, most successful prize circulation contests ever conducted on the Coast.

Thursday evening the count was completed by the committee of prominent citizens who consented to canvas the vote in order to satisfy everyone interested in THE TRIBUNE'S Great $10,000 Prize Subscription Contest it was as fair as it was successful.

To the winners of the prizes great and small THE TRIBUNE offers its hearty congratulations, thanking the contestants for their fair and business-like way of treating THE TRIBUNE and one another, and the convenient and expeditious way in which they handled their business.

Fairness of the Big Contest

Disinterested parties everywhere, business men and the contestants themselves, are praising THE TRIBUNE for the impartial treatment which all candidates received. Everything was done to facilitate the work of the candidates and their friends, and the result is that everything has turned out in the most gratifying manner.

Contestants Energetic.

It must be said in recognition of the good work done by the candidates that they devoted themselves heartily to the cause, and through their efforts the public generally awakened to the fact that THE TRIBUNE is the paper for their homes, and today it has many thousands of new subscribers who are among its staunchest friends.

A Main Feature

If there is one class of citizens more interested than another in the Great Contest which has just closed it is the BUSINESS MEN and GENERAL ADVERTISERS, who watched with interest the daily increase in the vote made by contestants and have drawn their own conclusions as to the increase in circulation. The final count of all was especially interesting as proving what a great number of subscriptions had gone to swell the vote to such heroic proportions. The natural result of this is a greatly added value to their advertisements, since the larger the number of readers, the greater the value of THE TRIBUNE as an advertising medium.

What makes THE TRIBUNE the ideal paper for merchants is that a large proportion of its readers belong to the Spending Class—people who when they read of something they want go out and buy it. It does little good to bring one's wares to the notice of those who cannot buy them.

Honors Deserved

The successful contestants are named today as the result of the official count of the prominent and disinterested gentlemen who acted as judges, and who had no other concern in the contest than to accept the invitation of the management and contestants to make a thorough and complete canvass of the votes.

Received Enthusiastically

It was impossible to anticipate such a reception as has been accorded THE TRIBUNE'S Great Prize Subscription Contest. It has appealed to the public mind, and by the increased circulation resulting, the merchants and advertisers who use the columns of THE TRIBUNE for the purpose of advertising are the ones to be directly benefited. Therefore aside from awarding the prizes to the candidates it has conferred incalculable benefits on the merchants and advertisers.

Winners Feel Proud

The winners may feel proud of the fact that they have won a magnificent prize, and have come out with the honor of having outrun workers who have themselves done exceedingly well, and who under ordinary circumstances would have had enough votes to win.

THE HONOR OF WINNING IS PRIZED by some candidates HIGHER THAN THE AWARD ITSELF. They feel that those who have co-operated with them so heartily and gave them every assistance in their power share with them this honor, and they are glad to prove to their friends that their confidence was not misplaced nor their help wasted.

All Could Not Win

The one feature of the contest that we do not like is that everyone cannot win a prize, but in the very nature of things this is impossible, and there is sympathy in plenty for those who have no material benefit to show for their effort. Later on they will surely find that benefit there has been, and of a high kind, for they have necessarily developed self-confidence, business ability and independence which will help them to be successful in the battle that lasts long after the BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS has been forgotten—that is, the battle of life.

Those who win certainly feel richly rewarded for their efforts, and they will appreciate the handsome prizes far more than if they had been laid at their feet without any work on their part, and without the manifold associations of friendship and good will which go with these prizes, won by the assistance of all their acquaintances.

Awarded With Great Pleasure

It is a pleasant task for us to make the awards to the successful candidates and we do this with the heartiest good wishes for their enjoyment of them and a keen appreciation of the work they have done in our behalf during the last two months.

Burroughs Adding Machine Used

The Burroughs Adding Machine was used throughout the contest and proved invaluable. The work was accomplished with ease and accuracy. Not only was the handling of the vast mass of figures greatly facilitated, but those who conducted the Contest, as well as the candidates themselves, felt perfect confidence in the machine.

The contestants said that every vote had been correctly added and full justice done to each and all caused a pleasant feeling of confidence at the close.

Stole to Make Parents' Life Easy

NEW YORK.—Complete failure of a plan devised by Miss Susan G. Macomber to make comfortable the few remaining years of her aged parents, whose sole support she is, was recorded in West Side Court, where she was arraigned on a charge of defalcation.

Her father is 74, her mother 71, and both are invalids. Their daughter had purchased for them a pretty residence in East Orange and surrounded them with all an aged couple could wish for. They were rejoiced daily with rosy pictures she painted of abundant prosperity that made it impossible they would ever be in want. She described her salary as large. She actually received $10 a week as bookkeeper and cashier for the John Lane Publishing Company, which brings the charge against her. The firm estimates its loss at between $15,000 and $19,000. Miss Macomber said in court yesterday the amount might be less than $6,000. Experts are still at work on the books.

FATHER WITNESSES DISGRACE.

Miss Macomber watched anxiously her white-haired father, whom she supported in court, fearing he did not have the strength to withstand the shock of revelations concerning the daughter he had believed to be the soul of integrity.

Benjamin F. Maupin, treasurer of the company, suspected a shortage in the accounts two months ago and made a secret examination of the books, but Miss Macomber, who is 42 years of age and of prepossessing appearance, was not dismissed until February 12. Experts immediately discovered the accounts had been jugged, but so cleverly that definite information could not be had readily. It became necessary to communicate with all persons who had transacted business with the company during the past two years while Miss Macomber served as cashier in order to determine what bills had been paid.

ASKED MERCY FOR PARENTS.

Miss Macomber tried to compromise with the Lane Company in order to keep the discovery from her parents. A letter from her placed in evidence contained a confession, a list of checks which had been manipulated, and a plea for mercy for the sake of her parents, whom she described as nearing the end of their lives.

Miss Macomber was held in $5,000 bail for the grand jury. Failing to obtain a bondsman she was taken to the Seventh district prison to await transfer to the Tombs.

At No. 102 North Maple avenue, East Orange, the aged father said he knew nothing of his daughter's ambition to provide for the home nor of the means she had taken to accomplish it. He said his daughter was tempted to dishonesty by the example of another person she had been manipulating accounts. Both Mr. Macomber and his wife said their daughter's mind may have become unbalanced from overwork. She is their only child.

UNCLE SAM LOST HER FALSE TEETH

WASHINGTON.—A Jersey spinster entrusted her false teeth to the mails and they went astray. Today Postmaster General Hitchcock received the following appeal from her:

"Dear Sir—I suppose you have received a note from the Camden postmaster that the upper plates of my teeth have been lost in the mails. They were mailed at Camden on January 1. I should like very much to hear from you. If you are un-

Countess Leary is known for her good works more than for her Papal title. She is an active member of the Catholic Church and is at the head of many charitable movements. She is one of several American women on whom the Pope has conferred a title. These titles are not considered badges of nobility in Europe; but by many they are regarded as badges of noble character, which is more.

fortunate enough to have store teeth you know how inconvenient it is to have to do without them, and I have not had them even a year. I paid $35 for them and I cannot afford to get any more just now. So will you kindly do what you can for me, and as quickly as possible?

"P. S.—They were very good teeth." The postmaster general put one of the best inspectors in the service on the job to find the missing ivories.

MARRIED 10 YEARS; HAVE 19 CHILDREN

MUSKEGEE, Okla.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott of Highland, Kan., are seeking a home in this State with plenty of land. They will need it, for although they have been married not quite ten years they are the parents of nineteen children, all boys, and thirteen of them living. They hold the record for triplets, having five sets to their credit, and two sets of twins. All of the thirteen boys living are under five years.

Recently the Scotts, deciding that they must find more land, went to Alberta, Canada. They were not satisfied there and returned. On the return trip Mrs. Scott and her thirteen children all rode on one first class ticket. At Omaha the conductor made a vigorous protest.

"Madam, you cannot carry a whole Sunday school along with you on that one ticket," he said, "and you need not tell me those are all yours. You will have to pay for some of them."

"The rules of this railroad provide that a child under five years may ride free, when accompanied by its parent with a first class ticket, don't they?" retorted Mrs. Scott.

"They do, but you will have to show me."

Mrs. Scott dug down into her valise and brought out the family Bible, in which was recorded the names and ages of each of the children. The conductor had to give in. The mother and children occupied five double seats in the home-seekers' car and paid for only one.

The names and ages of the children are: Ashbel, Archer and Austin, triplets, four and a half years old; Arthur and Arnold, twins, three and a half; Allan, Almon and Albin, triplets, two and a half; Albert, Alton and Adolph, triplets, eighteen months; Abel and Abner, six months. Mrs. Scott is thirty years old and her husband is only a year her senior.

The mother and children are now in Highland, Kan., while the father is in Oklahoma, seeking a location. He probably will buy some cheap Indian land.

Sent to Jail by One of His Wives, Tries Suicide

NEW YORK.—William Thomas Grant pleaded guilty to the charge of forging his employer's name to a check and was apparently willing to take his medicine when he went to Raymond street jail, but when he learned that a charge of bigamy had been preferred against him by one of his two wives he leaped on the second tier of the jail in an effort to dash his brains out on the basement floor.

Grant, who is only 21, was formerly a clerk, employed by J. Diehl, a hardware merchant of No. 1520 Broadway, Brooklyn. He forged Diehl's name to a check for a small amount and admitted his guilt Saturday when arraigned in the Gates avenue court.

As he was being taken from the police court a well dressed young woman confronted him.

"Why, you here?" said Grant. "It's a great pleasure to see you, dear."

"Yes, I'm here," retorted the woman. "So is your other wife," and a second young woman, also well dressed, then stepped forward, her eyes flashing fire.

"I'll complain it all later," Grant excused. "I really can explain everything," and he smiled at the two wives as he was led away to jail.

Mrs. William Thomas Grant No. 1, formerly Miss Margaret Farley lives at No. 961 Madison street, Brooklyn. She was married on June 16, 1909, by Justice Burke of Jersey City. On Feb. 16 last Grant married Miss Ethel Teresa Seelye, No. 615 Decatur street, Brooklyn, also in Jersey City, the Rev. A. J. Meyer, pastor of the First Reformed Church of Jersey City, performing the ceremony in his home.

Mrs. Margaret Farley Grant journeyed to Jersey City and looked over the marriage records. On her demand a warrant was issued and placed in the hands of a Jersey City detective.

Grant heard the news late yesterday afternoon. When the call for supper came he fell in behind a line of prisoners and was just starting down the iron stairs when he made the attempt at suicide.

The doctors at Bradford Street Hospital say Grant is injured internally but will probably recover.

Toward last midnight, Mrs. Rappenecker, who declares she has missed articles of value from the house, went to the dining room to watch the pair.

When the maid left the kitchen, Mrs. Rappenecker says the negro took advantage of the maid's absence to enter the dining room, search the sideboard, and rummage about in the front hall. Before the maid returned he went back to the kitchen and resumed his seat by the fire.

At the first opportunity, Mrs. Rappenecker testified, she left the dining room and quietly going to the second floor telephoned to the Chestnut Hill police station for aid. Four policemen arrived and placed the negro under arrest.

In his pockets were found a number of pawn tickets. One of these tickets was for an overcoat, identified by Mr. Rappenecker as his, and another for a pair of blankets Mrs. Rappenecker said she had missed.

Unwilling to believe her maid dishonest, Mrs. Rappenecker refused to allow her to be placed under arrest.

Women 'White Caps' Lash Two Sisters

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Garbed as "White Caps," a score or more of women joined with about one hundred men in administering a whipping to two women in Morgan county, according to dispatches that arrived here. The victims of the mob were sisters, Minnie and Mary Combs.

The beating was extremely severe, as attested by the fact that two new buggy whips were worn out on the backs of the women. After that they were forced into a vehicle, sent to the nearest railroad station and put on a train for their former home in Breathitt county, under orders never to return. The Combs sisters had been warned repeatedly to leave Morgan county.

SEA CLAIMS HEAVY DEATH TOLL

Steamer Capsizes and Crew and Passengers Meet Death in Waves

Vessel Turns Turtle Shortly After Leaving Port of Victoria, B. C.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 25.—With thirty-nine passengers and crew on board the steamer Sechelt, a small shelter deck steamer operated between Victoria and Sooke by the British Columbia Shipping Company, capsized off Beachy Head late yesterday. Indians on the beach saw the vessel capsize.

The Sechelt left the Grand Trunk Pacific wharf at 2:30 p. m. with about thirty-five passengers, mostly laborers bound to the Canadian Northern Railroad construction camp at Pender Bay, and a crew of four men, with Captain H. B. James, manager of the company, in command, relieving Captain Strongman.

VESSEL CAPSIZE.

Early this morning a boy arrived at Esquimalt in a gasoline launch from the William Head quarantine station with news that the vessel had capsized. All that the boy knew was the Sechelt had capsized and he believed all were drowned. He had been sent to get assistance, the telephone being out of order between the city and the quarantine station.

The tug William Joliffe was sent out as soon as the news was received by wireless and a wireless message was sent to the Australian liner Moana, which left for the antipodes early this morning, notifying Captain Morrissey of the disaster.

The Sechelt had a good cargo. There were few Sooke residents among the passengers. The steamer seemingly made for the salt at William Head and proceeded toward Pender Bay when she encountered the strong southwest squalls which prevailed about 4:30 p. m.

OFF BEACHY HEAD.

She was then off Beachy Head, a wooded cliff forming the western entrance to Beachy Head.

Captain H. B. James, who had charge of the steamer, was a former actor in the Canadian-Australian line and the engineer was Arthur Hicks.

The Sechelt began service on the Sooke run March 1. She was 82 feet in length over all, 15 feet in breadth and 8 feet in depth, with a gross register of 73 tons.

MANY EYES TURN TOWARD OAKLAND

Chamber of Commerce Tells of Good Results of Advertising.

The Chamber of Commerce states that a great many inquiries are being received from day to day from Eastern people as to the merits of Oakland, their attention having been attracted to the city through the present extended advertising campaign which the Chamber is waging, and also through the attractive circulars issued by the Southern Pacific passenger department.

These circulars contain a return card addressed to the Chamber of Commerce asking for information, and it is these cards which have been coming in in such numbers that the inquiries are particularly in regard to farm lands in this vicinity, with mercantile investments in importance.

The Chamber of Commerce that with settled weather there is increasing activity in building operations with at least four or five important manufacturing enterprises making inquiries as to location and time.

Specifications are also on file at the rooms for furnishing one steel smelter stack at the Preston School of Industry at 1000. The attention of Oakland bidder is called to this opportunity for securing an important contract.

Despite the fact that the Wolfe amendment to accomplish the annexation of the bay city of San Pedro has been killed, Secretary Johnson of the San Pedro organization is still receiving communications from various commercial organizations over the state asking for particular assistance in the purposes of the bill. Many organizations seem to be only just realizing the importance of the question and fight.

COUNTY TAX ASSOCIATION PERMANENTLY ORGANIZED

The Alameda County Tax Association effected a permanent organization yesterday afternoon in the offices of Frank J. Woodward in the Oakland Bank of Savings building, when the members of the body received and accepted the report of the committee on constitution and by-laws.

A committee was appointed to serve as a nominating body. Its members are A. C. Lathrop, J. A. Heron, Frederick Kahn, Frank Woodward, and Edison F. Adams, and the five men will call for names of members for candidates for offices. This committee will report next Friday afternoon, when permanent officers will be chosen. These men will also serve as a membership committee, with the task of getting the first 100 names on the list of members.

TO ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF SISTER-IN-LAW

SAYS MACHINE CONTROLS BOARD

Mrs. Elinor Carlisle Answers Critics of Her Record as School Director.

BERKELEY, March 25.—Following Mrs. James B. Hume's thrust regarding "belligerency" as a member of the Board of Education delivered at a meeting in West Berkeley Monday night, Mrs. Elinor Carlisle, candidate for re-election to the board in opposition to Mrs. Hume, indicated last night at a Good Government Club meeting in Unity Hall that her belligerency was the result of unfairness toward her on the part of other directors.

Incidentally she made the charge that the school board was in the hands of a political machine.

Many statements have been made during the present campaign that Mrs. Carlisle has been lacking in tact and co-operation in her relations with other members of the Board of Education.

She said in part last night:

"The Berkeley Board of Education is controlled by machine politics. It is that what the people of Berkeley want, well and good; if not, then I ask for your suffrage on April 1st."

"A very large number of the Good Government men are not believers in machine politics; some of my strongest personal friends and supporters are among the Good Government people, men who stand for integrity and worth in the community, and they are tired of this political manipulation of public office."

DO NOT "STAND IN."

"The machine is trying to sacrifice me because I have not 'stood in' with the machine politics on the board. Standing in is my only recommendation for re-election, I prefer to be sacrificed."

"I have a large sense of humor. It has been my saving grace in this whole miserable program. I never knew before that the chief requisite for office was tact. I have always entertained a vague, uneasy feeling that it was general fitness for office and the ability to back up that general fitness by independence of thought and action. I might be mistaken, however."

NO EASY JOB.

"The minority on any board has a difficult time, and please do not overlook the fact that the minority gets the almighty dose."

"My opinion, however, is that the best thing the could possibly happen to any community is to have a non-conformist on public boards. The public knows what is happening."

"Now, I have no further apology, nor is this an apology—it is a statement of the truth, so far as I can see it."

"Mrs. Hume spoke on the kindergarten issue and her work in the interests of the women of the State during her recent official connection with the Federation of Women's Clubs.

E. Nichols, another candidate for school director; Mayor Beverly D. Hodges, Professor William Carey Jones, R. A. Berry, candidate for councilman, and F. F. Connor, for councilman, were other speakers.

REAPER MAY STAY HAND OF COURT

Edward Faivre Served in Divorce Suit While on Death Bed.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Edward Faivre, while lying ill on what may be his death bed, at his home, 2012 Jones street, was served with papers in an action for divorce begun by his wife, Ada, in the Superior Court this morning.

Three weeks ago the couple had a falling out as the result of a jealous quarrel and subsequently separated. Edward has not been in touch with his wife since, and today, when Sam Jacobs went to serve the summons, he was met by a sister, Edith Faivre, who conducted him to the bedside of the stricken man and handing it over, said: "Never mind, you're a good boy and I'll stand by you."

Faivre himself, touched by the appeal, replied: "Don't cry. If she had waited a few days longer she wouldn't have had to go to court."

BANK OF SHASTA COUNTY CLOSES

President C. C. Bush Declares Liabilities Will Be Paid in Full.

REDDING, March 25.—The Bank of Shasta County closed its doors today. State Bank Examiner Dobbs and the bank's directors are in session.

The doors of the institution were closed at the request of the directors. President C. C. Bush said that liabilities would be paid in full if time is given to adjust the bank's affairs. Bush said today:

"We can pay in full if given time. Some big loans do not look as good as when we made them. There has been a run on our bank since December. When S. Holden, of St. Louis, made the statement that we had lent him $123,000 without security in connection with the After Thought Copper Company. This was not true, but it hurt us just the same. Troubles between the farmers and the smelters also hurt us, $175,000 having been cut from the local pay rolls the last year and half. The First Savings Bank of Shasta County, a collateral institution, is in no way involved."

WINSTON APPEALS.

BERKELEY, March 24.—The statement of Mr. W. C. Winston, 1015 Franklin, restaurant and confectionery proprietor, who has been sentenced to six months imprisonment on a charge of battery, was sent to the Superior Court today. The court is bound to the claim that there is no cause for action and that the evidence did not show that a crime had been committed.

Money a Necessity, Declares Hunter in Course of Speech.

BERKELEY, March 25.—As early as 3 o'clock this afternoon throngs began to fill up the Hearst Greek theatre for the second lecture by Theodore Roosevelt in the Earl course under the auspices of the Pacific Theological Seminary.

The speaker's subject is "The Home and the Child." Teachers and parents were noticeably numerous among the early arrivals at the amphitheatre, the building not featuring any distinctive architectural lines. In the basement is a rathskeller, complete in all the details essential to frequent college functions.

ELABORATE PROGRAM.

An elaborate program has been arranged for the evening in which members of Zeta Psi from the class of 1860 down to the present time will take part. Present on the occasion will also be students from other chapters throughout the country who are at present visiting or located in this vicinity.

Ernest C. Clewe, '12; William E. Zulli, '12; Jay E. Powers, '12; Earle A. Crillin, Mu '11; Elmer L. Hertel, Mu '11; Weston Wilson, Mu '13; Louis Cass, Mu '13, and Raymond W. Hawley, Alpha Beta, '12. Edward R. Jackson, Iota, '96, will act as consulting meteorologist.

Featured for the evening will be trips to the great botanic gardens by members of the Indoors Yacht Club and other performances by the Old Guard and the Kirschwasser band.

SAN FRANCISCO SOCIETY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Miss Ethel Roosevelt is the inspiration for the luncheon at which Mrs. Herbert Moffitt will preside next Thursday. A bevy of the younger girls has been bidden to meet the second daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt, who is said to be dashing and vivacious. Miss Roosevelt is the mother of two sons, and her husband was educated at the Cathedral school in Washington, where was a classmate of Miss Esther Denny and Miss Marguerite Doe.

The tea which was given yesterday by Miss Hazel Pierce for Miss Gladys Crocker had a two-fold interest, for the engagement of the hostess and for Percy Thurston's wedding was announced to the unsuspecting guests.

The chief harm the multi-millionaire does in joining with others to form a trust is that he does that he is apt to give the rest of us a thorough false idea of the size of the dose.

It is a debasing thing for the nation to choose as its heroes the men of mere wealth.

Roosevelt then told of the social disturbance a multi-millionaire had occasioned by living in a small community, where people of respectable standards tried to alter their modes of life to entertain him in what they considered a proper manner of great wealth."

He said that his wife was not quite able to do what was expected from him for she had failed to keep those dependent upon him in reasonable comfort; to provide food and clothes, shelter, decent surroundings, a good education for his children, and a reasonable relaxation for his wife and children.

"After that point is reached money, instead of being the prime factor, is one of the smaller factors of success. The difference between the multi-millionaire and the man of comfortable fortune is one of appearance, and not reality.

FALSE IDEALS.

National Commission Shows Discrimination Against Player William Moskiman

HIGH MOGULS OF BASE BALL UNFAIR IN RULINGDeny One Player Right to Earn Living, but Excuse Flagrant Violations of Rules

Auburn, New York, March 25, 1911.

Norris O'Neil, Oakland, California.

The National Commission has agreed not to take up any applications for reinstatements of ineligible players until the end of the 1911 playing season.

J. H. FARRELL.

By BERT LOWRY.

"Justice?" Does that "august" body, the National Commission, know the meaning of this word? Is this National Commission of Baseball composed of Garry Hermann of Cincinnati, Ban Johnson of the American League and Tom Lynch of the National League higher than the constitution of the United States?

If not, then by what right do these men deny to William Moskiman the right to earn his living as a ball player?

THE TRIBUNE, the many friends of the player and thousands of faithful followers of baseball ask why does this National Commission that poses as being fair and aboveboard reinstate notorious contract jumpers like Hal Chase, who left his team in mid-season to play with black-listed players under an assumed name—Bill Moriarity of the same ilk, Johnny Kling, Jimmy Callahan, Monte Pyle, Benny Henderson and others and deny reinstatement to William Moskiman, whose only offense was a refusal to report to the Louisville team of the American Association?

Through the columns of the baseball papers of the east and through the mouthpieces of the National Commission and the National Association of Minor Leagues we read of how good these two do for baseball. But are they doing good for the game of baseball?

DISCRIMINATION WATCHWORD OF THE COMMISSION.

Since the inception of the National Commission it has been the only joke (that's the word) of the game. Time and again the most flagrant cases of rule-breaking by ball players have been condoned and those men that did all that was in their power to injure the game of baseball have had their offenses overlooked and have been received back into the fold with open arms.

While the subject of Hal Chase is an old one, can any of these commissioners point out a ball player who did more, willingly and knowingly, to injure baseball than did this same Hal Chase? Because "Kid" Elberfeld of the New York American team refused to kowtow to this said Hal Chase, the latter packed his grip in the middle of the season and came west. Here he joined the California State League harboring blacklisted ball players and, under the name of Schutlz, played first base for the San Jose team of that league.

For this Hal Chase was fined a paltry $100 and his expenses paid back east so that he could again play first base for the New York team.

Again, near the close of the 1910 season, Hal Chase, contract jumper, kicked over the traces and refused to play ball unless George Stallings, as clean and square a sportsman that ever donned a baseball uniform, was driven from the American League.

While Chase was in the California league he made no move toward living up to his obligations and his contract, but instead tried in many ways to corrupt organized baseball. Moreover, he bartered his services like Shylock and played with the outlaw team that gave him the most money.

MORIARITY CASE AS BAD AS THAT OF CHASE.

Bill Moriarity was brought from the Western Canada league by Cal. Ewing in 1903 or thereabout. Money was given to him to live out the season, but he was treated every way treated as that of a gentleman.

One night, without warning, he packed his grip and hastened off to Stockton in an automobile and began playing with that team, an outlaw organization.

There is another player right now in the ranks of organized baseball who took upon himself of saying that baseball was a crooked sport and for which he was forever expelled from the game.

These two cases are merely cited to show the difference between this offense and that of William Moskiman. "Doc" was a member of the Oakland team when he was sold to Pittsburgh. Later he was transferred to Baltimore and while with that team played the best that was in him and always carried himself with the decorum and breeding of the gentleman.

Never once was "Doc" Moskiman called the rowdy nor was he ever known as being a discredit to the game.

After the close of the eastern baseball season Moskiman came west and in an endeavor to return men to baseball playing baseball with the California team, and when they retired but two Beavers, McCredie's hard-hitting champions won the final game of the training season.

The Beavers leave here this afternoon for Plano Beach, and after playing a regular Yankton game there Sunday morning leave for Los Angeles, and Alvin Sundberg, Jack Morris, and Ben Henderson are on their way to Los Angeles and will join the team there.

McCredie ordered Henderson to go to the Angel City. Tom Seaton and Walter Kuhn will be the battery for Portland in the opening game.

BEAVERS BREAK CAMP
AT SANTA MARIA SPRINGS

SANTA MARIA, March 25.—In a hand-camp game here yesterday afternoon, in which the Portland players agreed to tire the high school team, the Beavers, McCredie's hard-hitting champions won the final game of the training season.

The Beavers leave here this afternoon for Plano Beach, and after playing a regular Yankton game there Sunday morning leave for Los Angeles, and Alvin Sundberg, Jack Morris, and Ben Henderson are on their way to Los Angeles and will join the team there.

STANFORD STUDENTS
HOLD CARNIVAL OF SPORT EVENTS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 25.—Athletic sports interested, but not Marathons, relay race, "holder," carnival and prom, besides the long looked for address of former President Roosevelt made the 1911 junior day a most interesting one. The games began in the morning and the prom was fitting climax to a week marked by an extraordinary feature.

Afternoon sports on the lake during the morning consisted of fancy diving, 50-yard dash relay race and a canoe tilting contest. The prize donated for fancy diving was won by R. McEvoy. C. O. Stanford '14 won the prize cup in the 50-yard dash, T. L. Dole, varsity football captain, and T. C. Dye '15 proved to be the best swimmers in the relay race. The team made up of E. E. Manning '13, W. H. Blosse '14, and the relay team of the afternoon was won by the sophomore team who barely nosed out the senior and junior. The time of the winning four was 4:29.

MAURICE THOMPSON WINS.
SHERIDA, Wyo., March 25.—Maurice Thompson of Butte secured the decision in twelve rounds over Peter Jensen of Denver, known as "Gentleman" Dan. The crucial moment for Jensen was at the mercy of his opponent, but he came from behind to win the fight.

When the Board of Arbitration of the minor association sustained Judge Graham in this decision, was looked upon as a final decision. McCredie appealed on the decision to Secretary Farrell, but not to the board of arbitration. Secretary Farrell listened to McCredie's plea and reversed the findings of the board.

It is supposed that in a corporation, in business or in baseball, that a board of directors or a board of arbitration are to be consulted when matters of business come up, but in the Hettling case, the J. Cal Ewing, Tim Murnane, Norris O'Neil, Eddie Carraugh, were consulted in the matter and Farrell, without right or

WOLGAST AND LA GRAVE
SELECT WELSH AS REFEREE

Each Man Posts Forfeit and Begins Active Work for Ring Friday Night

By EDDIE SMITH.

With the posting of the $1000 forfeits with John T. Clark and the selection of Jack Welsh as the referee, Managers Tom Jones and Sam Fitzpatrick with Promoter Milton Clark yesterday afternoon settled the final details for the Ad Wolgast-Anton LaGrave twenty-round contest to be held at the Auditorium on the last day of this month.

As was announced in THE TRIBUNE yesterday neither of the managers of the boxers would even consider Jack Johnson as the third man in the ring and he was immediately dropped from the list of the eligibles. Fitzpatrick objected to the champion and Jones followed in his footsteps, so the promoter had to drop his pet scheme of having the heavyweight champion referee. Jones advanced the name of Jack Welsh and Fitzpatrick quickly agreed. Jack's was the only name mentioned, the principles are well satisfied with the selection and the fans will also be well pleased. Welsh has a reputation for honesty and squareness and his decisions have also proven him a man of good judgment.

JONES EMPATHIC IN HIS DEMANDS.

During the discussion on the weight forfeit posting Jones made himself very plain on one thing. He insisted that in the case of LaGrave not being at the stipulated 133 pounds at the ring side that he would immediately lay claim to the forfeit money and that he would not allow Wolgast to enter into the contest under any circumstances.

The chances are that Jones has made himself plain on this subject on account of the experience of Battling Nelson the night he met the butchertown lad. At that time LaGrave was to make 133 pounds at 6 o'clock, but when it came to weighing in he was found to be three pounds over weight.

Nelson demanded the forfeit money and insisted that he would not take part in the proposed battle. It then developed that Fitzpatrick had hedged off the forfeit money and this had to be made up by the promoter. There came a long conference by the friends of the fighter to take the Italian on at any old weight.

Finally the Dane agreed and went on, but Jones evidently want to warn all parties concerned that this will not be the case with Wolgast.

LA GRAVE MUST BE AT 133.

Jones declares that Ad can not enter the ring at a heavier weight than 133 pounds and be in good condition, and for that reason he does not consent to his giving up any weight.

Even though Torni is so positive about the weight of LaGrave, however, he admits that Wolgast will have to give away several pounds to Packy McFarland when this pair meet a little later in the season, this pair meet a little later in the season, with the money posted in the hands of John T. Clark, Jones can go home and rest easy, for it is a safe bet that John will see that he gets all that is coming to him.

Manager Jones and Wolgast put in the afternoon yesterday having the left arm of the champion thoroughly examined under the rays of the X-ray machine and at the end of the consultation with the medico, who has acted before for Jones, both were confident that nothing would happen to the injured member.

This will mean that Wolgast will be in even better shape for the LaGrave contest than he was for the Mensic affair, for he will gain confidence in his arm with each battle and enter the ring this time feeling sure of it.

STARTS HARD GRIND OF TRAINING.

Today Ad will start the grind of training at the Seal Rock House and from now to next Friday he will keep himself busy with the gymnasium apparatus and the gloves. That he will be in good shape there is not the slightest doubt, for he is not the sort to take any boxer cheap and he is fully up to his training.

The one thing bothering the boxing fans at this time is the chances of LaGrave making the weight and entering the ring in a fit condition to do justice in a battle with the champion of the world. Both the pugilist and his manager declare they will be able to accomplish the task and Anton is boxing better and harder than he ever did before.

While I have my doubts as to the ability of LaGrave to make the weight and be strong criticism on this point will be with him still later. In the week, when Anton will be visited and a careful study made of his condition.

WILL LOOK LA GRAVE OVER.

If it is found that, in our opinion, LaGrave will not be fit we shall say so, but if on the other hand he is making the weight and appears strong, then we shall be glad to see that he will be able to enter the ring in all his natural strength. If LaGrave can do this and if he shows no fear of the champion, he should be able to make things warm, for he is a strong fellow and can take a world of punishment as well as give it.

It is understood that Promoter Clark is to make every effort to save anything going wrong on the weight of LaGrave and has designated Harry Foley as his agent to stand right at the Shannon residence in San Rafael to watch the pugilist to avoid a hard tussle.

Thomas of San Jose and Vlugh of St. Thomas were the individuals who, when the fight was posted, also ran a fast lap in the relay. Vlugh won the mule event for second place in the field.

SOX PLAY BASEBALL LIKE SAM SOOZAY AND GYPSY ED

Exhibitions Since They Have Been on the Coast Have Done Ball Game Little Good

By BERT LOWRY.

The training trip of the Boston Red Sox second team is almost at an end. For that let us be thankful. Outside of Walter Moser and one or two others this bunch of Green Goods players have looked upon their trip to the coast as one big picnic. At that they're off for fields anew after the seance with San Francisco tomorrow afternoon, and if John I. Taylor will promise never to send his recruits this way again we will forgive him and Norris O'Neil and forget the many farcical games the Number Twos played in our midst.

Tim Murnane can slam our climate all he wishes, for many, many times we know it will be lovely and enjoyable, but that ball team; mercy, punk is about the only word that expresses our opinion and that of 25,000 other fans.

Tomorrow morning they meet the Oaks in their last game in Oakland. If you want to see a comedy—a bunch of bushy bushers and have a good laugh, grab a San Pablo car and go out to Freeman Park, but if you want to see a real live ball game save your quarter and go out in the afternoon when the Oaks tackle the Phoenix team of St. Mary's College.

Norris O'Neil, writer from Secretary Farrell of the National Association, saw the Moekiman's application for reinstatement and asking for a chance to make a living will not be acted upon until the end of the season of 1911. Fifty other ball players are also treated the same way.

And there are some men who say that slavery was abolished years ago.

That's it, thought the big joke of the game, the national commission, composed of Garry Hermann, Ban Johnson and Tom Lynch, get out on you and you're a slave for life.

But be a contract jumper, leave your club in the lurch, play outlaw ball under an assumed name, be named Hal Chase and belong to Ban Johnson's league and you can come back to organized baseball any time you want.

BOSTONS MAKE JOKE OF BASEBALL.

As to that game of yesterday between the Sals and green goods squad of the Oaks the least said about the same the better.

San Francisco tried all the time and play a creditable game of ball, but the other fellows, oh! mercy. Here's the way they made their runs and hits by innings:

SCORE BY INNINGS.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Boston	0	2	1	0	0	0	0	0	1
St. Francis	0	1	3	0	1	2	1	0	1
St. Francis	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0

Seven runs and six hits off Moser in three innings; three runs and seven hits off Eastley in three innings; three runs off O'Brien in three innings; three runs off Bower in three innings; two runs off Stolen bases—Burgess (2), Perry, Hollis, Neuberger, Melchior; Two-base hit—Mohr. Sacrificed hit—Melchior. First base—O'Brien (2), Miller, L. Strick out—Eastley (2); O'Brien, 1; Miller, 6. Hit by pitcher—McArdle by Miller. Double play—Buck to Engle to Myers; McArdle to Tennant. Passed balls—Thomas (2). Time of game—1:50. Umpire—Hildebrand.

ANGELS EASY FOR BOSTONSE.

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—The Red Sox beat the Angels 11 to 4 victory over the Angels today.

In keeping with the recognized rules of the great national game the Bostonians were required to play the game on deck or on the field. Eight of these could be considered merely as decorations. The one lone man capable of beating the Angels, who did not play, was Joe Wiggs, a bushy looking pitcher.

Charles Hall went to work for the Boston in the seventh. It was here that the Dillons took heart and commenced hitting and scoring.

JIM COFFROTH HAS PIPE DREAM IN TEXAS

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 25.—Changes in the rules for Kentucky racing, doubly important in view of the death of racing in New York, were passed by the Kentucky racing commission here yesterday.

It is now provided that all meetings at tracks whose immediate territory contains a population of more than 100,000—meaning Latonia and Louisville—no purse at a spring meeting shall be for less than $500 nor at autumn meetings for less than $400. In cities of between 30,000 and 40,000 population referring to Lexington—the purse limits are $300 and $250 for the respective seasons.

The Britishers can not offer a purse large enough to land the big blacks for their meet. The Britishers say the fight will be held and I expect to manage it. I have Johnson's assurances that he will fight at my arena and I think he will negotiate the big fight. If it is pulled off at all it will be all Johnson. He has the muscle, the skill and the weight.

OLYMPIANS WILL GO TO BIG LAGOON FOR OUTING

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—The first of the series of cross-country treks for the members of the Olympic club announced to take place this season will be held tomorrow over a six-mile course in Marin county. The Winged "O" members will leave on the Sausalito boat at 8:45 a. m. and will board the train for Manzanita station on the Northwestern Pacific road. From this latter place the route will proceed to the Big lagoon.

Over 100 members of the Olympic club had signed the list of outdoor enthusiasts up to last night, which has encouraged the committee in charge to make elaborate preparations for the final tomorrow. The trip will be a great treat for the hikers and a plunge in the surf is included in the program of events. An inviting luncheon will be served by the stewards department of the club, which is always an attractive feature.

CORNELL MEETS MICHIGAN TONIGHT

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 25.—Cornell and Michigan meet here tonight in the feature as well as the closing victory meet of the Michigan indoor track season. Ineligibility and sickness have robbed Michigan of some of their best and most brilliant men, but the ability of Craig, Horner and Hanavan, together with the advantage incident to running on their own track, will count upon the Michigan athletes to combine in helping the Ithacians.

WILL PLAY TOMORROW

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—The first flying contests of the San Francisco Yacht club on San Francisco lake for the season will be held this afternoon at 3 p. m. at the lake side last Sunday. Several of the experts were present limbering up today and tomorrow. J. B. Bennett, Walter D. Mansfield, Charles Kell, F. J. Cooper, Tom C. Kierney, James Watt, Colonel Paul Nippert and James G. Young had their split bamboo rods at work in preliminary practice.

MOTOR BOAT BEATS RECORD.

LONDON, March 25.—Ed McKay Ed, of the British Columbia Yacht club, made a wonderful burst of speed in a trial on the Solent yesterday, making 49½ knots an hour. This is claimed as the world's record. The Maple Leaf III took part in the motor boat regatta at Monaco a week ago.

The Schoenfelds and Oakland Tribune baseball clubs will again clash at the State League grounds, Fifty-eighth and Grove streets, tomorrow afternoon.

The Oakland Tribune has got on game to the last team to promise to make it very interesting for their rivals. The manager of the Schoenfelds has been strengthening the weak spots in the field. All are well come to attend this game.

COLLEGE GRADUATE
WILL SOON MARRY

Engagement of Miss Nellie McCarthy to Thomas Elston is Announced.

BERKELEY, March 25.—An engagement of unusual interest in college and society circles became known this afternoon when Miss Nellie H. McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCarthy, 2551 Dwight way, announced to a gathering of girl friends her betrothal to Thomas Sydney Elston, Instructor in physics at the University of California, and graduate of that institution with the class of 1899.

Miss McCarthy broke the news at an informal afternoon in honor of her weekend guest, Miss Lillian Westmeyer of San Jose. The affair was attended by several college sorority girls.

Miss McCarthy is a member of the Pythian Society of the university. She graduated in the class of 1905.

Elston is a son of A. M. Elston and a brother of Attorney Arthur Elston. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and Skull and Keys, and of Delta Upsilon fraternity. He took a post-graduate course at Johns Hopkins University.

SNARL UNTANGLED;
SOLONS HAPPY

Tension of the Week Broken and Legislature Breathes Easy.

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—With the various tidings passed and the smell of reapportionment sounded, the tension which for a week has made the legislature an unhappy body, broke through their work with laughter and jokes.

Congress is called upon to enact legislation for a graduated income and inheritance tax by a joint resolution adopted by the Senate. Senator Cartwright, author of the resolution, made an address on the subject before the Senate last night, which was enthusiastically received. The resolution was sent to the Assembly.

A constitutional amendment by Senator Hewitt following either with prehold or the consolidation was adopted.

Senator Hale's plan by which each legislative district would contain one Senator and three Assemblymen, and voters could cast all three votes for one Assemblyman, as embodied in a constitutional amendment, was defeated. This system is used in Illinois.

HE STUFFS HIS WAY
INTO THE U. S. ARMY

PORLTAND, Ore., March 25.—Discovering that Harry A. Foster, who wished to enlist in the army, weighed only 147 pounds, when his height and other physical dimensions called for 149 pounds in order to insure acceptance, Lieutenant Upham, in charge of the Portland recruiting office, kept the man two days and fed him liberally. Result, Foster weighed 150 pounds and was accepted. He is unassigned as yet.

The faint chance that there may be active service has led to an unusual number of applications for enlistments at the recruiting office. But William V. Rymer, aged 21, the son of a German cavalry officer and master of four languages, is among those accepted. He exhibited a letter from his father expressing a wish that he join the United States army.

Glover Says Founder of Christian Science Was Systematically Deceived.

CONCORD, N. H., March 25.—An additional bill in equity filed today in the superior court in behalf of George W. Glover of Leed, S. D., against the trustees of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, makes the direct allegation that Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of Christian Science, was "systematically deceived and led to bequeath nearly the whole of her property to said church in ignorance of the fact that so great a bequest was forbidden under the laws of New Hampshire and Massachusetts."
